About Me

I've been taking photographs since the age of sixteen when I first put my hands on an old soviet analogue camera called Zenit. At that time, I was on my first year of BA Marketing at the Aviation State University in Ufa, Russia where my dream of having a career in photography seemed unachievable.

Now it has been more than 8 years, I can say that I am a professional photographer and earn my living doing that.

My experience of growth has ups and downs but throughout the whole journey I have never given up and learned from my experience in order to grow in the industry and become a professional in my field.
